First, its not a function, its a property, a function is actually a name given to one particular function. The function name is (probably) Math.random() Now just calling Math.random() will return a number between 0 and 1 from the Android SDK. Note that this is different from the mathematical Math.random(). The Android SDK will still use the original Java implementation (JVM used in Android prior to version 2.0) So if you think there might be a bug in the Android Math.random() function, you'll need to check if this bug only exists on Android version less than 2.0. If you are looking for a function to generate large numbers, use the android.util.Random class. You can then use this same function in combination with the
